What Is Title IX?

“No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied benefit of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.”

- Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972

Title IX ensures all students and employees are given equal opportunities in their learning and working environments. A Title IX violation can come in the form of exclusion based on gender, harassment, threats, and/or physical violence.

Who Does it Protect?

Women are not the only ones affected by Title IX. Men also are protected under the amendment. Regardless of self-identification and orientation, we all benefit from learning and working environments free of gender harassment, assault, and interpersonal violence.

How Do I Report a Violation?

If you suspect a Title IX violation, report it immediately to Kathy Andersen at (717) 728-2503 or kathyandersen@centralpenn.edu.

If you feel your safety is at risk, or you have been the victim of an assault, please contact the Public Safety Department at (717) 728-2364, email PublicSafety@centralpenn.edu or call 911.

I Reported a Violation, Now What?

After you report a violation, the Title IX Coordinator will walk you through what will happen. Information on what to expect during the process will be provided to you.

If you feel you need additional support or services, we can help to connect you with those organizations. Your safety is our top priority, don’t be afraid to speak up with your concerns.

Where Can I find more Information?

You can read more on Title IX and The College’s Sex Discrimination / Sexual Misconduct Policy starting on page 27 in the Annual Campus Safety Report at centralpenn.edu/publicsafety.
