DRIVE MAPPINGS ON A PERSONAL DEVICE

If this is a personal computer, you'll need to map a network drive for the T: File Share and H: Home drive. Sometimes if they don't connect right away, click on them and it will prompt you for a login. If you are on a work device, reboot first to see if the drive mappings appear, and if not build them below or email the help desk at helpdesk@centralpenn.edu.

On Windows 7 :

For T: File Share

- Go to Start:
- Right Click on Computer
- Select Map Network Drive:
- Change the Drive to T:
- Type the following in Folder:
- For the T: Drive -- \\172.16.1.20\summerdale\shared\
- Click Finish

For the H: Drive:

- Go to Start:
- Right Click on Computer
- Select Map Network Drive:
- Change the Drive to H:
- Type the following in Folder:
- For the H: Drive \\172.16.1.20\summerdale\home\firstnamelastname\
- Click Finish

On Windows 10:

Type This PC in the search

For T: Drive --

- Click on Map Network Drive, select Map Network Drive
- Select T: Enter in \\172.16.1.20\summerdale\shared\
- Click on User Different Credentials
- Click Finish
- In pop-up window, enter in your Windows credentials and password, plus click on remember credentials.
- Click OK

For H: Drive --

- Click on Map Network Drive, select Map Network Drive
- Select H:
- Enter in \\172.16.1.20\summerdale\home\firstnamelastname\
- Click on User Different Credentials
- Click Finish
- In pop-up window, enter in your email and password, plus click on remember credentials.
- Click OK

On a Macintosh Computer -

For T: Drive --

- From the Mac OS X Finder, hit Command+K to bring up the 'Connect to Server' window
- Enter the path to the network drive you want to map, enter in smb://172.16.1.20/summerdale/shared and click 'Connect'
- Enter your login/password and click "OK" to mount the network drive
- The drive will now appear on your desktop and in the Finder window sidebar

For H: Drive --

- From the Mac OS X Finder, hit Command+K to bring up the 'Connect to Server' window
- Enter the path to the network drive you want to map, enter in smb://172.16.1.20/summerdale/Home and click 'Connect'
- Enter your login/password and click "OK" to mount the network drive
- The drive will now appear on your desktop and in the Finder window sidebar
