

It Adds Up

Do you have a nose for numbers? Like solving problems? Digging into data? If yes, then a career in Accounting might be just what you're looking for.

As a student pursuing an associate degree in Accounting, you'll learn how to use various accounting and financial software ... hone problem-solving skills ... communicate in a professional manner ... and develop a deep understanding of tax and other financial laws and regulations ... and much more.

Most companies, government agencies and nonprofit groups require the use of accounting personnel to operate successfully. Our Accounting program prepares you to be workforce-ready once you graduate.
