

Serving the Greater Good

To serve and to protect ... that's what a degree in Criminal Justice Administration prepares you to do, whether it's in the area of administrative services, law enforcement or homeland security.

You'll learn how to conduct investigations ... follow the chain of evidence ... interview witnesses and suspects ... and gain a deep understanding of applicable laws, due process and crime prevention techniques. Whether your career goal is a job with a public agency or private company, you'll be workforce-ready when you enter this in-demand, professional field.
